

ANNUAL SYMPOSIUM 2017

Sunday April 2

Orlando Florida

SYMPOSIUM PODIUM PRESENTATIONS

THYROID CANCER management, surveillance, follow-up

TREATMENT for DIABETES & CARDIAC DISEASE new insights and outcomes

BARE BONES disorders of phosphate metabolism and metabolic bone disease

TELEMEDICINE beyond the diabetes clinic

ADRENAL INSUFFICIENCY

NEW INSULINS a primer for the nurse

INTERACTIVE WORKSHOPS

Motivational Interventions for Persons with Endocrine Disorders

Management Gastrointestinal & Pancreatic Neuroendocrine Tumors

Suspecting Pituitary Disorder-what's next

Endocrine Emergencies 101 for Nurses

Register online at endo-2017.org/registration

Awards and Deadlines

All applications and instructions are available online at www.endo-nurses.org

ENS Travel Grant

- Up to $1000 towards travel, hotel, and ENS 2017 registration costs
- Must have been a member for 6 months or join for 2 years with application
- Must not have prescriptive authority
- Due date: Feb 28, 2017 (but you are encouraged to apply early)

ENS Research Award ($1000)

- To support development of clinical project or independent research study to address needs of endocrine patients
- Recipients will present a poster outlining their work at next annual meeting

Due Date: January 15, 2017

Submit to: patricia.via@va.gov

Betsy Love McClung Award ($1500)

In memorandum of a founding member. Award to a nurse with similar achievements to Betsy, who has made an outstanding contribution to endocrine nursing through education, research, publications, quality of patient care. More information coming soon via email. Due date : February 28, 2017

Member Accomplishments

Please email us with your recent accomplishments including research, publications, promotions, etc. We want to feature YOU in our next newsletter!

Chris Yedinak represented ENS at the International Congress of Endocrinology (ICE) 2016 in Beijing, China. She is a founding member of The Federation of International Nurses in Endocrinology (FINE) and worked hard to get FINE established as an affiliate of the International Society of Endocrinology (ISE) so that an international endocrine nurse symposium could be held as part of ICE. Eleven international nurse speakers presented on a variety of topics. At the conclusion of the program, members were asked to prepare a manuscript about endocrine nursing worldwide for publication in the Chinese Journal of Endocrinology and Metabolism. Way to go Chris!

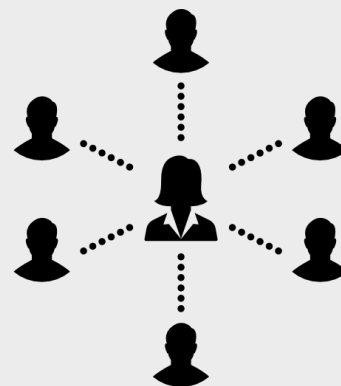

Michelle Gurel, RN BSN celebrated her 10th anniversary with Neuroendocrine Clinical Center at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Endocrine Nursing Textbook

Together with Springer of UK, several of our international colleagues have launched a multinational effort to produce a textbook on Endocrine Nursing. Several of our members have been asked to participate in this project. This effort has been supported by numerous physicians worldwide who have provided encouragement and collaboration with nurse authors on their manuscripts. Publication is expected to be announced either at Endo 2017 or the European Endocrine Society meeting in May of '17.

Did you know...

There is a membership directory on our website!
Please edit your user profile to share your clinical area of expertise so that other members may contact you!

FINE

If you are interested in participating in the Federation of International Nurses in Endocrinology (FINE), check the ENS website for more information. All contributions, thoughts, and ideas are welcomed. Video meetings are held regularly – times and dates will be posted on the website. The next FINE nurse symposium will be held in Cape Town, South Africa in December of 2018 as part of the ICE meeting. E-mail Chris Yedinak for more information.

ENS BOARD 2016-2017

PRESIDENT Joan Damon-Simon RN MBA, Texas
SECRETARY Jayme Ewanichak APRN, Pennsylvania
PROGRAM Michele Mims RN4, Tennessee
RESEARCH Patricia Via MS RN APRN-BC, Virginia
WEB MASTER Sandra Hendricks FNP BC-ADM, Texas

PAST PRESIDENT Michelle Gurel RN BSN, Massachusetts
TREASURER Molly Solares Yeardley RN, Arizona
EDUCATION Margaret Eckert-Norton PhD FNP-BC CDE, New York
MEMBERSHIP Amy Mundy FNP BC-ADM, Virginia
MARKETING Michele Lamerson, RN, MS, CPNP, California

BOARD MEMBER-AT-LARGE

Christine Yedinak DNP FNP-BC MN RN, Oregon